

MILL VALLEY HISTORICAL SOCIETY PRESENTS
COOL GRAY CITY OF LOVE
AN EVENING WITH
GARY KAMIYA

WEDNESDAY, MAY 1ST
MILL VALLEY PUBLIC LIBRARY - 7:00PM

Most American cities used to have skid rows in the heart of downtown. They've all been developed and gentrified out of existence — but not in San Francisco. Bestselling author Gary Kamiya explores why.

Kamiya is author of the bestselling Cool Gray City of Love: 49 Views of San Francisco, awarded the 2013 Northern California Book Award. He was a founder and longtime executive editor of Salon.com and former executive editor of San Francisco Magazine. His work has appeared in publications including the NY Times Book Review, Sports Illustrated, ArtForum, and Mother Jones. He writes a history column, "Portals of the Past," for the SF Chronicle and lives on Telegraph Hill.

Registration recommended. Visit the Reference Desk to register.
